Updates

HIGHLAND GREEN

Highland Green received a final certificate of occupancy, for their 33-unit, single family and duplex, affordable rental development. The project is located at 401- 403 E. Kerr Avenue and includes nine units for income qualifying veterans.

THE PERFECT PITCH

The November Business and Development Luncheon provided an opportunity for seven property owners, brokers, and the City to showcase available Urbana properties. The event saw record attendance with over 70 attendees.

LANDMARK HOTEL AUCTION

The Urbana Landmark Hotel will be offered at auction on the realty website Ten-X on December 11th-13th.

ALDI

Aldi held a ribbon cutting on November 10th for their grand re-opening for their expanded grocery store. The new expansion added refrigeration and freezer space allowing Aldi to increase the variety of their offerings. The event had over 100 attendees, despite the chilly outdoor weather.

UNCANNY MAGAZINE

The online Hugo Award winning online science fiction magazine, Uncanny Magazine, has relocated to Urbana as a home business. Run by husband and wife pair Lynne M. Thomas and Michael Damian Thomas, the semi-pro magazine features a series of short stories each month and is operated as a home business.

PUBLIC ARTS

The 2017 Murals on Glass have been installed. Beth Darling's "Hosta Takeover" is now displayed on the front of the City of Urbana's Building and Kelly Hieronymus' "South Farm No. 9" is now displayed on the front of the Urbana Park District's Phillips Recreation Center.

The Urbana Art Expo was held on November 19th. The event featured 17 exhibiting artists and had 400 attendees.

STAFFING UPDATES

Libby Horwitz was promoted to the position of Economic Development Coordinator. In her new role she will continue her responsibilities and expand her work externally with the business community including joining the Urbana Business Association board upon appointment.
